3 Big Benefits of Good & Deep Sleep

A mattress for every need

Energy conservation and storage.

During the day, cells throughout your body use stockpiled resources to keep doing their job. While you're asleep, your body uses less energy. That lets those cells re-supply and stock up for the next day.

Self-repair and recovery.

Being less active makes it easier for your body to heal injuries and repair issues that happened while you were awake. That's also why when you are sick makes you feel more tired and need more rest as advised.

Brain maintenance.

While you're asleep, your brain reorganizes and compartmentalises memories and learned information. It makes accessing and using things you learn and remember, easier and more efficient.

It is this profound understanding of human sleep patterns that has enabled Skyflex design and craft mattresses which ensure people experience long hours of relaxed and undisturbed sleep. One that helps them transform into fresh, sprightly, confident, power packed and happy people all day long. Because Skyflex believes that restful sleep is very important for the human body to perform without any disruption.
